The U.S. Small Business Administration has approved an Economic Injury Disaster Loan Assistance fund for small businesses impacted by COVID-19. In order for Idaho and our region to become eligible for assistance, affected Idaho businesses need to file an Economic Injury Worksheet. In our state, this effort is being led by the Idaho Department of Commerce. The Economic Injury Worksheet and other information regarding the assistance can be found on the Department of Commerce's COVID-19 webpage. The assistance is available to both for and not-for profit businesses. Even if you do not plan to apply for financial assistance, completing and submitting the form is helpful in assisting other Eastern Idaho businesses who may apply. Jerry Miller at the Idaho Department of Commerce is the point of contact for this effort and who the completed forms can be sent to.
